ROTC STUDENT FROM LOCKHAVEN COLLEGE TO SPEAK TO YOUNG FRIENDS AT MIDDLETOWN MEETING

On March 18 James Ailes, a ROTC student from Lockhaven, will speak with the high school age first day school students of Middletown Meeting about why his sense of duty, honor, and conscience led him to military service. The program is part of leading the young Friends to make their moral journey to discover whether they are conscientious objectors to war. James is the son of a minister and he and his family are old friends of a family at Middletown. Coffee at 9:45AM, program at 10:00. Friends of Bucks Quarter are welcome to attend, however our Middletown Friends would like to be clear that this is not a political event, and the war in Iraq will not be part of the discussion.

PYM ANNUAL SESSIONS
MARCH 23-25

A "must read": When you receive the next issue of PYMNews be sure to read the letter from Thomas Swain, clerk of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting. It's his take on reasons why we should attend Annual Sessions. Maybe you think, "Yearly Meeting Sessions. So what?" Well, Thomas (and lots of other great folks) believe it's not, "So what?" anymore it's "What if?" So, read the letter and come to the sessions. Why shouldn't you have a transforming, friendship building, relationship enhancing experience like the rest of us? C'mon, you and your family deserve it!

Go to the PYM web site www.pym.org to download all necessary info and registration forms. For non-computer folks, call Sue Makler at 215-241-7238 for hard copies or ask someone to print them off for you.

Look for an info card in your mail box with a brief explanation of the sessions.
