Depending on where the peaches are in the season, visitors will take a look at the peaches that haven't been picked yet; probably White Hale and maybe JH Hale. The Manoffs will show off their tunnel raspberries that will be in full swing and they'll enjoy showing off all the apples that should be ripening by then, and some new strawberry plantings that should be looking quite good.

The evenings at that time are delightful!

WE MISSED YOU AT SUMMER SESSIONS...AND YOU MISSED A REALLY GREAT TIME!

If you were not able to attend, we missed you. If you were able to attend, we are all better F/friends as a result! On July 29th, Friends gathered on the sun drenched hills of Center Valley, PA. The theme for the 329th session was Earth Care. On Wednesday evening, Friends heard from Peter Brown, co-author of Right Relationship: Building a Whole Earth Economy. Thursday evening the guest speaker was Keith Helmuth from the Quaker Institute for the Future. Keith spoke on consumerism and the consumption of our planets resources. Saturday evening Friends were blessed to have Joe Volk, Executive Secretary for Friends Council on National Legislation, George Lakey from Swarthmore College, Hollister Knowlton, of the Earth Care Working Group who in 2002 took early retirement to serve Quakers in earth care and Carl Magruder of The National Council of Churches Eco Justice Program.

A summary of the business that took place during Sessions follows:

- ◆ The budget was approved. There are no further staff reductions planned.
- ◆ There is a plan to hold another National Peace Conference in 2010, but this conference is to be organized by faith organizations other than Friends, Brethren and Mennonites.
- ◆ The report of the Governance Implementation Committee and recommendations was accepted and approved.
- ◆ The entire proposed 2009-2012 Framework for Action of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting Priorities was approved with some additional refinements after an extended period of discernment. The priorities are as follows: It should be noted that these priorities are not ranked by the level of importance; they are all of equal weight. #1. Spiritual growth and renewal #2. Caring for our community #3. Witnessing our faith #4. Making ourselves known.

On our final morning together Friends heard the outgoing epistles from our children and what they had been doing during their sessions throughout the week. They studied earth care as well by learning about soil, plants, air, breathing, being connected to the web of life, creation of the earth, leadings and more. The young children's reporting ended with all Friends singing, "Dear earth, dear earth, let us tell you how we feel, you have given us such treasure, we love you so."

Friends departed on Sunday after the drenching three inches of rain soaked the hills. Friends departed with love and fulfillment in their hearts for having spent five days together doing the good work of our Yearly Meeting. Friends were moved by the workshops, the enlightening speakers, singing, dancing, sharing thoughts, sharing stories, sharing the peaceful space that lies between the chaos and havoc of our lives. Friends spent five days in the company of happy, loving, tender, smiling people. Friends departed glad in the spirit that leads and stirs each of us. There is great and wonderful work for us to do individually, for each other and the greater world beyond our Summer Sessions privacy hedge. We are called to go forward in the love and Light and know that we are blessed and able.

- * All of the Re-creation supplies were from recycled, reused or reclaimed items brought to sessions by Friends. There was a project to make cloth napkins so that Friends wouldn't use paper napkins during meals. Small signs could be found everywhere Friends turned with helpful hints on how to be less abusive of our resources.
- * Know your ecological and carbon footprints – know what yours is and learn how to make it smaller.

The closing prayer from the Outgoing Epistle to Friends Every Where:

God, how are you directing us?

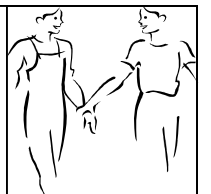

How might we walk in that Light which transforms all our endeavors into acts of love?

HOPE TO SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!!!
